PRESIDENT WORKS ON HIS MESSAGE

Annual Message To Be Pre-

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Mobilization of the new 74th Congress was completed in Washington today as President Roosevelt strove to finish his annual message on the state of the nation and to perfect a national budget that may call for record peace-time spending.

The Congress that convenes at noon tomorrow is newer, in a literal sense, than any of its predecessors. For in the house almost a fourth of the membership will be taking the oath for the first time, and the senate will be sprinkled with many new faces. All as a result of the Democratic landslide in November.

Severe Democratic Test
Under these circumstances, the test of Democratic leadership, how to control unwieldy majorities in both houses, becomes severe. Already there are predictions that the session will see more battling, mostly over economic issues, than ever before. There seems ample justification for these predictions, despite the surface confidence of the Democratic leaders that they will be able to hold things in check. Little time is to be lost in the preliminaries. The Republicans have already ironed out their lead-

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Monday night, even up to nearly midnight there were scores of 1934 licenses to be seen on the streets. Tuesday all of them had been changed, or else they were not out. Only one 1934 license could be seen last night and that was on Leasure avenue, west of Wilmington.

Although warmer weather had been predicted, a nice little cold wave descended on the city for the first day of the year. Pa Newc is hopeful that this doesn't indicate a cold year.

Christmas decorations are coming down on the main street. Pa Newc observed early this morning, and by evening the last vestiges of a Merry Christmas will have vanished. The trees and festoons of lights which hung across the street are being removed.

Detour marks are continuing to disappear from the Detour Bulletin issued by the department of highways, according to the current Bulletin for the period ending January 10. There are still two detours in the local district, one on the old non and Petersburg road and the other in the borough of Stoneboro.

Holiday lighting decorations in the homes of New Castle are coming down. Some had been taken down during the past week, but most of them remained until after New Year's day. Likewise, the Christmas trees are being dismantled and taken out of the homes today.

Mass Of Evidence Will Be Presented Against Hauptmann

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 2.—The really mountainous pile of highly incriminating evidence against Bruno Richard Hauptmann was carefully assayed and ready for use as the business of selecting jurors for his trial got under way here today.

The prosecuting officials are thoroughly convinced that Hauptmann is guilty of the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., they are equally convinced he was the only person ever involved in the fake kidnaping and extortion plot.

Believed "Lone Wolf"

They have carefully studied the personality of the notorious prisoner since his arrival here in the middle of October. From this study they have become thoroughly convinced that Hauptmann was capable of being the whole core of the Lindbergh case mystery without divulging to his waitress wife or any close acquaintance the slightest connection with the monstrous crime.

The certainty of the officials extends even to the trial itself. Attorney General Wilentz, in charge of the prosecution, does not "see how we can lose this case." Without a

Edward Newman, 29-year-old gasoline station manager, owner of the other machine, was hurled from the running-board, injuring his head.

After requesting that police give no publicity to the accident as he didn't want to worry his parents, the president's son was released on his own recognizance. He was held for a further hearing by Justice of the Peace Howard Harrison.

Roosevelt explained that he was driving directly behind another car and had not seen the parked machine in time to avoid the accident.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 2.—A howl of protest was voiced today by employees of the House of Representatives in the wake of the New Year's organization of the 1935 legislature which ended with the Democratic house majority voting all but nine of their jobs vacant.

The lower chamber was left with out page boys, and with only a skeleton force of reading and stenographic clerks.

Discharged Republican jobholders dug up a law passed in 1919 specifying they should be retained at least 10 days after convocation of the new legislature, or until their successors are named. Paid $7 per calendar day during a session, the 100-odd employees each have $91 at stake during the 13-day recess until January 14.

Despite the protests, Democratic leaders said the action, pushed through over Republican opposition, would stand. It was pointed out, however, that employees can file claims for payment with auditor general Frank E. Baldwin.

Make Way For Democrats
The action was taken to save $10,000, part of the Democratic program to slash session costs by reducing legislative patronage. Plans are to (Continued On Page Two)

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 2.—"I'm not worrying,"

The man spoke in flat, expressionless tones, slightly guttural. His wide, gray eyes were inscrutable and his thick, workman's fingers were as steady as the clear they held.

"How's my wife?" he asked.

It was Bruno Richard Hauptmann speaking. He was in his county jail cell here, talking to Attorney Ebert Rosencrans in his final conference with any of his defense counsel before going on trial today for the murder of baby Lindbergh.

No mention of the case was made in this last pre-trial conversation, Rosencrans said.

"I just asked him if there was anything he wanted," the lawyer (Continued On Page Two)

I am on my way out to the football game. I imagine it will be in the papers anyhow about who won. I will be too busy blathering with the players after the game to do much reporting.

It's real Chamber of Commerce weather and I look for those old Arkansas boys (that are playing under the name of Alabama) and those Pennsylvania ones playing under the non de plume of Stanford to put up a real game.

Engineers of the city and company already have started the examination. The street lighting arrangement expired with 1934 but under present plans, unless the city decrees otherwise, the arrangement will continue temporarily.

Under an ordinance passed by a former city council a minimum number of lights was provided for at certain prices and the charge for this is contained in a tariff which is on file with the commission.

HAUPTMANN IS PALE AS HE FACES COURT AT FLEMINGTON, N. J.

Both Prosecution And Defense Prepared For Epochal Battle—Electric Chair Is Fate Of Hauptmann If Convicted—Mass Of Evidence To Be Presented—Trial May Last For Weeks

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

COURTROOM, FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 2.—Deathly pale but with a defiant gleam in his deep-sunken blue eyes, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was placed on trial here today charged with the murder of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby. He was brought to the bar of justice at 10:09 A. M., in a setting without parallel in an American court room in the past two decades.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, in a flowing black robe, mounted the bench shortly after 10 o'clock. He is a tall, fine-looking man, with gray hair, florid face and wears spectacles.

Everybody in the court room rose as the Judge entered from his chambers in the rear and walked up on to the bench.

Hauptmann Brought In
After the spectators had seated themselves, Hauptmann was brought in from the jail just back of the court room.

Hauptmann was preceded and followed by half a dozen deputy sheriffs and a state trooper as he entered the courtroom. His deep-set blue eyes glanced around the court room in wonderment as he was escorted to a chair at defense counsel. He was neatly attired in a dark gray suit and was clean shaven.

The court crier then droned "Hear ye, hear ye, the state of New Jersey versus Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

—And the trial was on.

Col. Lindbergh Arrives

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, famous flyer and father of the slain baby, came in a few moments after the trial started and quietly took a seat. He turned his eyes on the pale, sullen Hauptmann. Lindbergh's face was impassive.

Lindbergh sat in a hunched position in his chair. His legs were crossed and his arms were crossed, two, clear across his body until the hands rested on the arms of the chair. His left foot drummed nervously on the floor.

Hauptmann, his eyes averted, sat only ten feet from Lindbergh.

As Lindbergh took his place in the court room, Prosecutor Anthony M. Hawk, Jr., of Hunterdon county, walked over to him and shook hands. They whispered for a moment or two.

The enclosure inside the railing was thronged with lawyers, ten for the state and four for the defense. The head of the prosecution battery, Attorney David T. Wilentz, arrived and conferred with the co-counsel for the state. Wilentz is a slim young man of about Hauptmann's age, a dark-haired, dark-skinned man with slicked black hair.

Veteran Attorney On Case
Urbane and smiling, the chief counsel for the defense, Edward J. Reilly, stood near chatting with the Hauptmann legal battery. Reilly is a big fellow, about sixty years old, ruddy-faced and genial. He is a veteran of more than 1,000 criminal cases.

Col. Norman H. Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey state police, who had charge of the investigation since its inception, came into the court room just as the session started and took a seat near Colonel Lindbergh.

Lindbergh and Schwarzkopf, friends for years, cooperated closely throughout the entire investigation and Lindbergh always indicated supreme confidence in the manner in which Schwarzkopf conducted the long search for the kidnaper or kidnapers of little Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

In a seat next to Schwarzkopf was Detective Sergeant John Wallace of the New Jersey State Police who played a conspicuous part in the investigation.

Ready To Proceed
The panel of 48 names, from which the jury of 12 was to be selected, was called. When the names were called, Justice Trenchard looked down upon the lawyers and asked if they were ready to proceed with the trial.

Both sides nodded.

Attorney Ebert Rosencrans of the defense then moved to admit Reilly as counsel in this New Jersey case.

"We are glad to have Mr. Reilly here," said Justice Trenchard.

Here's the New Year right among us, young and smart and full of vim, wonder just what sort of treatment we expect to come from him. Will he bring us sunny weather with the rain just when it's due, will he bring us heavy farm crops, will he cheer him when he's through. What about the frost in springtime, what about the apple crop, will we have a corn election, or get tickets from a cop. All these questions he can answer, these and many others more, but the young man won't be quiet, weather's bright and thirty four.

The Boyles avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hughes was the scene of holiday festivities which many of their friends enjoyed on Saturday afternoon, their little daughter Dorothy Jean, received a group of former Sheridan avenue playmates at a holiday party.

The hours were quite enjoyably spent in hilarious pastimes, concluding which a lovely luncheon was served. Motion pictures were shown afterwards. Members of the Hughes family, together with Mrs. E. A. Syling, Mrs. Clara Bicknell and Mrs. Ada Penny, of Cleveland, were guests in the Hughes home, on Friday evening. Conversation and games were pleasures, among these being an interesting pastime in which the guests were requested to write a will disposing of his or her most treasured possessions. These were not only original, but also unique and startling. A tasty luncheon was served.

WATCH PARTY IS MERRY OCCASION

PAYMENT OF TAXES MONTHLY

PAYING taxes should be put upon a monthly basis and become for the homeowner a part of the routine of billpaying along with that of the water rate, the telephone and gas bill and the charge for electric service. This is the pith of a report issued by the public relations committee of the United States Building and Loan League.

The report, signed by an impressive list of names of financiers and experts in the field of construction financing, defends its thesis by many arguments. The monthly tax payment plan would accord with the present practices in business. If it were more costly of collection, it would not be adopted by commercial interests in general.

It would not require the homeowner to accumulate a surplus during the six or 12-month period or to scurry about at the last moment to borrow tax money at the bank or among friends to avoid penalty. The present system of annual taxes collecting, the report asserts, is a survival of the time when the country was predominantly agricultural, and the farmers preferred to pay taxes when they sold crops. Today the average family income is received in weekly or monthly installments.

Finally, the report contends, the result of monthly tax dues would be an increased "tax consciousness" which would result in closer citizen supervision of government costs. Payment of taxes at frequent intervals would give the government the use of the money and make needless much public borrowing.

THE NEW YEAR—1935

Opportunities for greater happiness, richer lives and increased prosperity open up before us as we enter the new year. We are given another chance to demonstrate our ability to live right and progress along our road to success.

America, during the past year, has stuck her head above the clouds of depression and has taken a full view of the road ahead. The obstacles to recovery have been seen and acknowledged, which in itself denotes progress and a foundation on which to work toward a fuller life and increased prosperity. The worst may now be said to be over. We have passed through the lowest ebb of depression and are climbing back to normalcy.

It takes courage and understanding to look ahead to another year and visualize the best methods of attacking our problems and working out their solution. But courage is an outstanding trait of the American people. If it takes courage to succeed and put an end to all the ailments of our society, isn't that the one thing America is best equipped to offer? Our nation was founded by courageous pioneers, whose heritage to us has become tarnished and unkempt during the past few years.

It is time, at the beginning of this new year, to brighten up our courage, to strengthen our convictions and to practice the faith we have always held in the future of our nation. The same physical environment surrounds us today as we start on this new year, as that in which we lived—for the most part—prior to 1929. The material aspects of our country have not changed since then and, with the proper display of courage, faith and determination to succeed, the happiness and prosperity of our nation can be restored.

RUSSIA AND HUMAN NATURE

Whatever effect the Soviet Government may have had on the behavior patterns of the Russian people, human nature is exerting a powerful counter influence on the government. Officialdom is found yielding on many fronts to deep human instincts that in the early doctrinaire days it was assumed could be stamped out. These run pretty much the gamut of "bourgeois" values, according to William Henry Chamberlain, correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor at Moscow.

An innate sense of justice resulting in curbing the power of life and death exercised by the OGPU. Patriotism and nationality have survived the early internationalism of Bolshevism; the authority of the teacher has been restored in the schools and recognition of individual capacities has largely displaced group teaching. Literature need no longer be the bond slave of propaganda. Incentives to labor and production are constantly increasing. The doctrine of equality of pay and equal rights generally is now sneered at as "right opportunism." Notwithstanding the transfer of the military psychology of honors and distinctions to the industrial field, higher pay and better living conditions are found more effective.

Russia is trying to find out how much individualism will fit into a collectivist state, while western countries have the converse problem—how much associated action is needed to balance rugged individualism.

COMMUNITY PUNISHES ITSELF

In a land of civilization, law and order, it is hard to account for any lynching mob. It is especially hard in such a case as the one at Shelbyville, Tenn., recently, which burned down its own court house in an apparent attempt to "get even" with somebody or something.

Primitive race hatred, blood lust or thirst for vengeance might explain, though it would not condone, seizing of a prisoner for assaulting a girl. In this case the prisoner was removed by courageous and self-respecting officers of the law in time to prevent a disgrace. The law apparently was to take its course. Whereupon the baffled crowd made a bonfire of its Temple of Justice.

That will make it harder to transact all public business in the county. It will interfere seriously with public services in behalf of many members of that mob. It will saddle heavy expense upon the county taxpayers. It will remind Shelbyville for years of its deep disgrace.

Perhaps nothing should be done about that blackened and gutted court house. Perhaps it should be left for a permanent memorial.

Half of our lives are spent talking to people about other people.

Illinois is planning a system of bandit-proof highways. Maybe they will work better than fireproof buildings and foolproof automobiles.

Railroad men running a railroad in Colorado couldn't pay the interest on an RFC loan, so the government took it over and politicians will run it, paying the interest with taxpayers' money.

A painter has been dropped by the National Academy of Design for representing as an original work a copy of a masterpiece. The academy, taking a rather narrow view of the matter, made no allowance for the fact that it was a very good copy.

ENTHUSIASM BRINGS BRIGHT-ER ASPECTS OF LIFE

Is enthusiasm a feeling you no longer experience?
Have you allowed yourself to become hum-drum in everything?
There is nothing in which you are interested.

You think of sordid things, distressing matters which put you farther and farther away from any joy
you might get in life.

Nothing in all the world seems at all to you.

You are looking for the dark clouds and you would be disappointed
if brighter ones should present themselves.

Finally, you have reached the stage of self-pity.

And what a ruining element self-pity is to any person!

The one who indulges in it extensively is of little good to himself or to anyone else.

Even though you are surrounded by a lot of darkness, there are a few beams of light in your life, if you were willing to see them.

Enjoy a laugh once in a while—see a ray of sunshine as something warming, for if it were not, you would be frozen in truth.

Everything in your life is not unfavorable, if only you have the right outlook.

BE AN OPTIMIST

"Prophets of gloom who predict that a lessening rainfall in the Middle West will restore the 'Great American Desert' have another guess coming."

So says Dr. Dalton G. Miller of the University of Minnesota, who presents rainfall records of that state beginning with 1837 as proof of his statements.

During the twenty years from 1837 to 1856, there was a total rainfall of 591 inches, while the total for the twenty years beginning with 1914 was 518 inches.

From 1882 to 1901, 519 inches of rain fell, only one inch more than during the last twenty years.

In the decade ending last year the total was 246 inches, against 241 inches for the ten years ending with 1893.

An unusually dry summer like that of 1934, or a cycle of dry years always starts talk about a return to desert conditions but over long periods of years rainfall records average up about the same.

Weekly
Health Talk

"In spite of the fact that Americans are highly conscious of personal sanitary standards, millions of homes in the United States do not ever have bathtubs. This 'Believe It or Not' fact is all the more surprising when one considers the appeals to cleanliness that have appeared for a score or more of years in the advertising spreads of magazines and papers, and latterly have been heard over the radio. And while this bathtubless fact in itself does not necessarily prove that Americans are not sufficiently conscious of the great value of clearly habits and of the habitual use of soap, in particular,
it does serve to emphasize the adage that 'Cleanliness is next to Godliness,'" states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health.

"Together with its ordinary cleansing properties, pure soap has a definite germicidal value. The action of soap as a cleanser has been very clearly explained by a well known skin specialist in these words: 'As a cleanser, soap suspension has two properties: (1) it removes oil, grease and other insoluble liquids by forming an emulsion with them and (2)
it also removes minute solid particles of dirt by taking the dirt into suspension. Thus it has an emulsi-fying power and a capacity for absorption of fine particles. The former property is based on the fact that the emulsion of a colloidal suspension (soap) with an immiscible liquid is a stable condition. Consequently, soap suspension when rubbed on oily or greasy goods, emulsi-fies the grease, converts it into droplets, surrounded by soap solution and separated from the cloth, and so permits it to be washed off. After the soap has emulsified the oil it then adsorbs the particles of dirt which are then set free.

"According to Gardiner, the effects of soap on the skin are due chiefly to the alkali, for when an alkaline solution such as that of soap comes into contact with the skin, there is induced an excessive secretion of the acid sebum and sweat and a keratolytic effect on the protective epithelium."

"As to soap's germicidal power this same authority among other things states 'To a certain degree soaps are germicidal. Their germicidal action varies with different organisms. The germicidal activity is greatly enhanced by raising the temperature; this activity is further supplemented by any sterilizing effect brought about by the mechanical removal of bacteria.'

"However, the meat in the scient-ist's article is contained in the following statement: 'Soaps are potent factors in preventing the spread of disease not only on account of their germicidal action on the com-

many times that sum.

Statistics tell us that at least 36-

1934. Also one person is killed ev-

ed every thirty seconds in automobile mishaps. That ought to be something to think about beginning the glad new year.

The World At A Glance

Deficit Is Lower
Receipts Drop Off Too
French Writer Aims Views

Central Press
New York Bureau

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Despite the clamor over the federal deficit, it is not so high as President Roosevelt had estimated publicly.

It will be recalled that, in announcing his recovery program, the president had estimated a deficit averaging approximately $602,000-000 a month.

Actual deficit for November was $392,000,000.

But receipts, also, are below the presidential estimate.

Receipts for November amounted to only $247,000,000.

It had been estimated they would amount to $331,000,000.

Actual expenditures totaled $639-000,000—against an estimate of $933,000,000.

Public debt rose to a new all-time high—$27,299,000,000, or $705,000-000 higher than the wartime peak in August, 1919.

The debt will be more than a billion higher of January 1 due to recent borrowings.

President Roosevelt's estimate called for an increase in public debt to $33,743,000,000.

Interest on the present debt is $850,000,000 annually.

AN "ILLUSION"?
Frederic Jenny is financial editor of Le Temps, a leading French newspaper.

But his views, which are creating comment abroad, are aimed chiefly in an article he has written for Lloyds Bank Review, of London.

A year ago he wrote an article for the same journal, asserting that the Roosevelt "experiment" was a "fond illusion."

Now, a year later, he says his view merely has been confirmed—there has been no economic improvement in the world.

M. Jenny believes there are no new economic paths to recovery.

He would turn again to the age-old formulas of removing trade barriers, abolishing monetary instability and link the leading currencies with gold.

He terms as fallacies such measures as restrictions of production, artificial raising and maintenance of prices and inflation of credit.

He would develop free trade to restore division of labor among nations as it exists among people—
as he puts it.

Of economic nationalism, M. Jenny says:

"It rests upon the stupendous fallacy that man's neighbor is his enemy. In the long run, instead of creating work it confuses effort; instead of reducing unemployment it paralyzes progress; instead of stimulating recovery it deepens depression at home and abroad."

RICHBERG
The labor attack on Donald R.
Richberg is certain to have some effect in congress.

His making of speeches before various industrialists at every opportunity is offering an opening to attack. Of course, presumably upon presidential orders, he is trying to win complete co-operation from the industrialists for the administration.

Labor says if Richberg were back in Washington "attending to business instead of making speeches the country would be better off."

But then, when Richberg is back in Washington, labor objects to his efforts there.

Labor's thoughts on Richberg are phrased apparently by The Nation:

"Lifted to responsibility and vested with power, Mr. Richberg almost immediately broke with his past.
(He was general counsel for the railroad brotherhoods.) Since then he has exerted endless ingenuity in contriving one argument after another to disprove the right of trade unions to profit by their guaranty of collective bargaining. In less than two years he has emerged as the spokesman of our most reactionary employers."

AUTOS
Trades supplying parts to the auto industry are the busiest in years. In fact, they will enter the New Year with machines whirring at a great pace.

The demand is chiefly from manufacturers of low-priced cars.

Plan To Employ Millions Of Men On Big Projects

Program Of Controlled Expansion Will Call For Millions Of Men

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A program of controlled expansion of public works, giving employment to millions and calling for the expenditure of thousands of dollars over a long period of years was being shaped today.

Groundwork for the program was laid last year by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, as public works administrator. Through such a program Ickes could see not only a gradual overcoming of the depression, but a fortification against future depressions.

Will Employ Millions
Projects, under way or authorized from the $3,700,000,000 appropriated by the last congress, assure employment for approximately 2,000,000 men this year.

There are applications for public works totaling more than $2,000,000,000 which can only be allowed if congress makes available the funds.

But most of these projects would provide for only a year or two of work at the best. The long-range program looks far into the future.

New Year's was given a whooping reception here according to police who made inspection trips to the various places where 1934 was yelled out and 1935 shouted in. Emporiums where liquor is served were crowded. Only two arrests were made New Year's eve and they occurred on the street, according to police records. The prisoners were given a New Year's present of freedom without having to pay a fine when they faced Mayor Mayne. Both the men had been drinking.

Grading of Sheridan avenue in the vicinity of Wilmington avenue by the RWD has been proposed by residents, according to a petition presented to council by William Nunn. The latter told council that Leasure and Garfield avenues have been graded; and to grade Sheridan avenue would prove a public benefit. Council referred the petition to the city engineer who will compile an estimate of cost, both to the city and RWD and then report to council.

Eleven hundred and sixty one liens have been filed by Solicitor White against property-owners for delinquent 1931, 1932 and 1933 city taxes. It cost $1.75 to file each lien. Several days ago council directed that the liens be filed.

Franklin avenue residents have asked city council to use its offices to have Franklin avenue improved. The residents would have the RWD do the work and claim that if the RWD does so it will help East Side traffic.

Dr. J. K. Pollock To Sail Friday

Will Leave To Take Post As Official In Saar Valley Plebiscite

French Mining Engineer And Wife Wounded

Probe Wounding Of Two In Saar Territory, German Nazis Are Blamed

(International News Service)

SAARBRÜCKEN, Saar Territory, Jan. 2.—German Nazis, who have instituted a terrific drive to pile up an overwhelming Hitler majority in the Saar plebiscite a week from Sunday, today were blamed by pro-French Saarlanders for the wounding of a French mining engineer and his wife in one of a series of New Year's Day disturbances.

The French couple were struck by pistol shots fired through the windows of their Saarbrücken home. Friends said the engineer and his wife were victims of the Ordnungsdiener, the "disciplinary squad" of the German front is known.

Another disturbance occurred at Püttlingen where several members of the native Saar police force were involved in fighting.

These incidents increased the tenacity of the pre-plebiscite situation and added to the restlessness of the four-power army now quartered here to maintain order and held in readiness for action at a moment's notice.

Setting of Hauptmann Court Drama in Flemington, N. J.

HAUPTMANN IS PALE AS HE FACES COURT

drawing names of prospective jurors from a box.

The first name called was that of a woman—Mrs. Lulu B. Johnson, 55, of Delaware. After interrogation she was excused. Likewise, A. R. Heckman of Lebanon, and John P. Larson of West Arnold.

Charles Walton, Sr., machinist, of High Bridge, was next called. He had no opinion and was not prejudiced, and was married and the father of four children.

Walton was sworn in as the first juror.

Linden Swackhamer, a carpenter of Readington, was next called. He said he was "past middle age". Fisher asked him to be specific. He replied:

"I don't know exactly—67 or 68." Justice Trenchard excused him. Sarah Nonamaker, Flemington housewife, was excused.

Woman Accepted.
Mrs. Rosie Pill, Calton housewife, was next called. She said she has no scruples against capital punishment. Her husband is dead, her two children grown.

She admitted receiving a pamphlet about the case in the mail but insisted it had not in any way influenced her.

Mrs. Pill was sworn in, the second out of 14 examined.

Mrs. Minnie Mathenius, Union housewife, was then called. She is married and has two small children. The judge excused her.

Mrs. Fill, meanwhile had entered the jury box and sat down by Walton, the first juror selected. Automatically he becomes foreman of the jury.

Mrs. Louisa Dempsey of Readington, a housewife, was dismissed when she revealed she resides outside of Hunterdon county.

Garret B. Rynearson, a fireman of Flemington, claimed exemption and was excused.

Trial To Be Long One.
Flemington, N. J., Jan. 2.—In the seething atmosphere of a small town in New Jersey, Bruno Richard Hauptmann, former German machine gunner and ex-convict, takes the world spotlight today when he goes on trial charged with the murder of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

For days and weeks to come the cold-eyed, poker-faced Hauptmann will be the central figure in one of the greatest trials in American criminal history. A battery of reporters and writers will record his every move and flash and bulletin the testimony of witnesses for and against him to the four corners of the universe.

There is no actor—living or dead

—who would not feel a tendency to flinch in a spot such as this. But no one who has observed Hauptmann, in jail or elsewhere, believes for a moment that he will quake as he shuffles into the center of the stage in this highly publicized and exciting melodrama. This aloof, furtive looking man figures to sit in there looking as calm and collected as any person in the house.

Faces Electric Chair.
He knows his fate is at stake and that if he is convicted he must die in the electric chair. And understanding this fully, Hauptmann is prepared to stage a fight to the last ditch against the battle plan of the state to prove that he was the man who alone conceived and executed the crime which shocked the world.

In the court room throughout the trial will be a man who will attract almost as much attention as Hauptmann. He is the slain baby's father, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who was idolized by the world after his epic non-stop flight from New York to Paris seven and a half years ago.

Colonel Lindbergh, in his every stare at the prisoner in the dock, will show he believes Hauptmann to be guilty, that he is indeed the man who, on the night of March 1, 1932, scaled a ladder at the Lindbergh home at Hopewell, N. J., seized the baby from its crib, spirited it away and subsequently murdered the 20 months old infant.

Lindbergh To Testify.
Lindbergh himself will take the stand during the trial and relate the events of the night of the crime, the harrowing days which followed and how, weeks later, accompanied by an intermediary, he went at night to a cemetery in the Bronx, New York City, and paid over $50,000 in ransom money. The fact that $14,590 of this money was found on Hauptmann's premises after his arrest is perhaps the most convincing and incriminating evidence which the prisoner must combat.

Counter balancing to some extent Colonel Lindbergh's presence in court will be the presence of Hauptmann's wife, Anni, who plans to be there every day, giving long range aid and comfort to her husband who she has loyally stood by through it all. Mrs. Hauptmann is the prisoner's staunchest defender. She insists he is innocent, that he simply could not have committed this crime.

Wife Is Loyal To Accused.
Mrs. Hauptmann is a mother herself and she cannot comprehend how the man she loved—and still loves—could be guilty of such a cold-blooded act. She is living in a private home in Flemington, two blocks from the court house. For weeks back she has been a constant visitor at the jail.

The Hauptmanns have a baby, a boy named Manfred, a sturdy one-year-old youngster. The baby has been in with the mother time and time again to see the accused man in his cell, but the Hauptmann child will not be taken into the court during the trial, if present plans are followed.

A brilliant array of lawyers is ready to take part in the greatest battle of their careers. They have held their final conferences—the prosecution at the state capital at Trenton and the defense at New York City.

Plan Of Trial Not Revealed.
Neither side has revealed its plan of battle. It is generally believed, however, that the state will endeavor to build up an impregnable circumstantial case, backing it up with such concrete evidence as the ransom money and the ransom notes, the handwriting of which the prosecution contends is strikingly similar, and places identical, with the penmanship of Hauptmann. The defense, on the other hand, will seek to discredit and to refute witnesses who try to place Hauptmann in New Jersey on the night of the crime.

Hauptmann's alibi is that he was in the Bronx, New York City, with his wife, and that he spent the night of March 1, 1932, at home.

Heading the prosecution staff will be Attorney General David T. Wilentz, a dark-haired, dark-skinned man of about Hauptmann's age and of fine legal training. He will be aided by Assistant Attorney General Joseph Langner and half a dozen assistant attorney generals and George K. Large of Flemington, president of the Hunterdon County Bar association.

Legal Battery Ready.
The defense legal battery will be headed by Edward J. Rellly of Brooklyn, veteran of the New York bar, who has tried more than 1,000 murder cases with signal success. Rellly is a tall, bluff, ruddy-faced man with a lot of court room personality. He will be assisted by Lloyd Fisher, a bright young attorney of Flemington; Frederick A. Pope, veteran trial lawyer of Somerville, and Robert L. Scraman of Blairtown, N. J.

Highlights of the trial will come when Hauptmann takes the stand; also when such witnesses as Colonel Lindbergh and his wife, Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, testify. Other prominent witnesses will include Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police, who had charge of the Lindbergh kidnapping investigation; Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nurse; Dr. John P. "Jafie" Condon, who paid over the $50,000 ransom to a mysterious "John" in the Bronx cemetery; Millard White, back-woodsman who will place Hauptmann near the scene of the crime a few days before it was committed; Albert Osborn, handwriting expert; Joseph Perrone, taxi driver who says Hauptmann paid him $1 to deliver a note to "Jafie"; Mrs. Hauptmann and Mr. and Mrs. Christian Frederickson, owners of a bakery in the Bronx, who will be "alibi" witnesses for Hauptmann.

Mrs. McNair And Daughter Help In Office Of Mayor

Mayor McNair's Secretary Will Go To Washington To Take Congress Seat

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 2.—Mrs. William Nissley McNair and her daughter, Helen, were to receive a baptism in public office today when they "filled in" at the quarters of their husband-father for the departing Theodore Moritz, secretary to Mayor McNair.

Moritz leaves for his newly-won seat in congress and the Mayor, owing to the "hard time" he is having in the hunt for a replacement, announced Mrs. McNair is to be his secretary, temporarily at least. Helen will also assist by answering the mayoral phone.

Benefit Society Elects Officers

At the annual election of the Slovak Roman Benefit society, held in the club rooms at Jefferson and Chartes streets, John Melichar was elected president; Michael Tizak, vice president; George Melichar, financial secretary; John Yatsko, secretary, and Stephen Klamar, treasurer. Three new directors were added to the five now serving. The three are Michael Mizak, Paul Palvitch and Joseph Chabak.

The past year has been a successful one and in the coming year a program of athletics will be sponsored. John Slosensnik will act as the physical director.

Several popular numbers by Mike Turco were thoroughly enjoyed by the gathering, his interpretation of the melodious song "Trees" adding much color to the program. A snap-py floor show was staged by several clever young women of this city, under the direction of Miss Neil Brady. Miss Catherine Hartsuff, participated in three numbers, a toe dance, an acrobatic dance and an adagio dance, with Andrew Moser. Another dance by the Misses Willie Leonhardt and Helen Messner pleased the gathering tremendously.

Dancing to the melodious strains of a local orchestra, under the direction of Francis Hammond, was the popular pastime during the remainder of the evening. George LeCompte, Pittsburgh, played several entertaining accordion numbers. Miss Mildred Alger, Cleveland, and Philip Perrotta, of this city, won a tambourine dance prize. The one hundred or more persons left The Castleton with the feeling that 1935 was ushered in auspiciously. Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chill, of Youngstown, former New Castle residents; Miss Annette Esposito, San Antonio, Texas; John Hanlon, New York; Harry Mushach, of Youngstown; Miss Marguerite Pascarella, Youngstown; Louis Costi, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. ## Wolves' Party Is Fine Success

Over One Hundred Persons Attend Gala Event In The Castleton

(International News Service)

In the attractively decorated ball room of The Castleton, New Year's night, over 100 persons made merry at an elaborate party given by the Wolves Club. The event, one of the outstanding social occasions of the winter season here, was a decided success.

The affair which was in the form of a cabaret, was staged the same as any leading New York night club. The usual trinkets, paper cups, novelties and balloons furnished much entertainment. The committee, composed of Anthony Marino, chairman, Frank Summers, Carm Sacco, Sam Ross and James DeLawrence, arranged a most enjoyable program.

A luscious chicken dinner marked the opening of the affair at 7:30 o'clock. During the serving of the meal, Anthony Coppie, Tunney Coppie, Mike Piscarro and Ralph Monroe, talented musicians of the city, gave a number of pleasing selections. From a microphone located near the center of the ballroom, Frank Summers, master of ceremonies, performing his duties like a professional, introduced Dr. John Palazzo, 1934 president of The Wolves, and Angelo Casacchia, the 1935 president. The two men responded with brief speeches.

Several popular numbers by Mike Turco were thoroughly enjoyed by the gathering, his interpretation of the melodious song "Trees" adding much color to the program. A snap-py floor show was staged by several clever young women of this city, under the direction of Miss Neil Brady. Miss Catherine Hartsuff, participated in three numbers, a toe dance, an acrobatic dance and an adagio dance, with Andrew Moser. Another dance by the Misses Willie Leonhardt and Helen Messner pleased the gathering tremendously.

Dancing to the melodious strains of a local orchestra, under the direction of Francis Hammond, was the popular pastime during the remainder of the evening. George LeCompte, Pittsburgh, played several entertaining accordion numbers. Miss Mildred Alger, Cleveland, and Philip Perrotta, of this city, won a tambourine dance prize. The one hundred or more persons left The Castleton with the feeling that 1935 was ushered in auspiciously. Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chill, of Youngstown, former New Castle residents; Miss Annette Esposito, San Antonio, Texas; John Hanlon, New York; Harry Mushach, of Youngstown; Miss Marguerite Pascarella, Youngstown; Louis Costi, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mariana, Butler; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Carbo, Ellwood City; Miss Mildred Alger, Cleveland; Miss Betty DeMatteo, Cleveland and Miss Phyllis Newton, Ellwood City.

House Democrats To Name Leaders

Rep. Joseph W. Byrns Of Tennessee Is Slated For Speakership

MAJORITY LEADER WILL CAUSE FIGHT

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—With the greatest party majority in 75 years house Democrats gathered in caucus today to perfect an organization to assure clear sailing for President Roosevelt's legislative program.

The first step was to select of Rep. Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, as Democratic candidate for speaker, while he was assured an easy—and probably unanimous—victory in the party caucus, a stiff fight for the majority leadership offered a threat to party harmony.

Half Dozen Mentioned

The names of a half dozen candidates were to go before the caucus for the leadership, with Reps. John J. O'Connor of New York and William B. Bankhead, of Alabama apparently out in front.

Republicans also were to caucus with Rep. Bertrand Snell of New York assured of selection as the party candidate for speaker and minority floor leader.

The threatened progressive revolt against Snell failed to materialize.

Ask Holt Not To Take Seat

Democratic Majority Leaders Advise West Virginian To Wait Until Next June

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Democratic leadership of the senate today decided to ask 29-year-old J. D. Holt, senator-elect from West Virginia, to stand aside when the senate meets Thursday and wait until he reaches his 30th birthday in June before seeking his seat.

This decision was approved by Democratic Leader Joseph T. Robinson and members of the Democratic steering and policy committee.

Robinson announced party leaders would support Holt's right to the seat next June on the ground that the constitutional requirement that a senator must be 30 years of age applied to the time of his taking office and not to the time of his election.

Holt was only 29 years old when elected last November.

Robinson also declared that the Democratic majority in the senate would bar any person, if appointed by the governor of West Virginia to take Holt's place prior to next June.

National Income Over Seventy Five Billion Dollars In Year 1934

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—America's national income in 1934 surpassed seventy five billion dollars, according to the estimates of government experts.

Chiefly contributory has been the government's gigantic spending program which has put billions of dollars into circulation.

Billions of dollars have been "laid out" by Uncle Sam. The increase in the public debt has been sixteen billion dollars in the low mark following the prosperity period that ended in 1929 to close to twenty nine billion at the end of this year.

Half Billion Dollars

In plain numbers the cost of the depression to the taxpayers for the support of the federal government is a half a billion dollars in interest on the public debt alone. Girard Winston, one of the ablest assistants that ever worked with a secretary of the treasury, once estimated that one percent on the corporation tax would raise a hundred million dollars. Thus it is seen that the interest charge on the increased public debt translated into terms of a corporation tax means a boost of five percent.

The record national income was about ninety billion dollars in 1928 and 1929. The peak of all prosperity probably was in the former year, although speculative activity reached its zenith in late September, 1929. Hardly four percent of the national income goes for the support of the federal government. For the 1934 calendar year not more than 3,000,000 persons will pay federal income taxes. Many will pay sales or excise taxes but their contributions will be insignificant.

freshments. The committee in charge of the hunt and refreshments was Jennie Sgaralino, Winifred Summers and Dorris Campbell.

Mrs. William Canney and children, Nora, Ruth and James, are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Crawford, and family, at Petersburg, O.

The Good Will Bible class will hold their first regular monthly meeting of 1935 on Wednesday evening at eight, at the home of James and Kenneth Young of Bestview avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Throop and family, Eleanor and Henry, moved to Niles, O., where they attended the Throop reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cad Richard, on Sunday.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Nord and family on Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nord of Petersburg, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Nord and son Junior, of Poland, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Rice and family, Thomas, Ernest, Jean, Helen and Geraldine and Richard Ritchey, of Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rice of New Middletown, O., were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Rice of West Poland avenue.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Anna C. Bartolone, wife of Frank Bartolone of West Poland avenue, were conducted from St. Anthony's church on Monday morning, with Rev. Fr. N. Pirulli in charge of mass. Mrs. Bartolone had been sick for some time, but developed pneumonia on Christmas day. That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache caused by constipation you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Little New Year Gets Fine Welcome

Shaking the moisture off his chin and wringing the rain and mist out of his hair, 1935 arrived on time to find that a roaring welcome awaited him in New Castle. Not since the days of the swinging doors has the welcome been so noisy, nor so protected. The folks kept right on welcoming the little stranger on up to the wee sma' hours, although the two o'clock dead line shut some of the exuberance off.

It was a muggy night for the little fellow to get in. A fine rain had the highways greasy, made driving difficult, and might have delayed a traveller less intrepid than the lad who has the next 12 months in his vest pocket, or would have if he wore a vest.

Downtown Busy

Downtown New Castle was a busy place. Churches held watch night services and many attended these. The theatres all held midnight shows and none of them lacked for attendance. The restaurants and clubs catered to capacity crowds and as the midnight whistles tooted 1935 in, they were almost drowned in the din and clatter of horns, bells, rattles, and various other noise makers employed by the crowds in the hotcha spots.

It might have been expected that the celebrations would have been a spot too much for some of the boys and that the law might have to step in and settle them. On the contrary there was no disturbance reported from restaurants or clubs and while they were noisy enough, there was no actual disturbance. The only two arrests made were of celebrants who chose the streets for their welcome to the new year.

Interviewed as he was drying his socks, 1935 expressed himself as being pleased with his welcome. "A bit of weather coming in" he observed, "but I'll get used to that." Asked what the outlook was economically the little fellow said he would have to refer to his notes. And with a smile he bowed the press out.

Warns Dog Owners On 1935 Licenses

Tags Are Now Available At Court House; Penalty For Violation

Dog owners of Lawrence county today were advised to procure 1935 licenses for their canines from County Treasurer William O. Pitts immediately.

J. Wylie Brewster, in charge of dog law enforcement in Lawrence and Beaver counties, issued the following statement for the information of the owners:

"The 1935 tags are now in the hands of County Treasurer Pitts. Dog owners should immediately procure them for the new year. The law requires that all dogs six months of age or over must be licensed on or before January 15, or just as soon as they become six months of age. After January 15, a vigorous canvass will be made, and any person found who has failed to procure his license, will be prosecuted and subject to a fine of from $5 to $100 and costs, or 30 days in jail, or both. Excuses for having failed to obtain licenses will not be accepted."

Mr. Brewster said "dog owners are being fairly warned" and he said it is "as necessary to license your dog as it is your automobile."

GANGSTER'S WIDOW IS MASSACRE WITNESS

Mrs. Frank Nash Gives Testimony

Six On Trial At Kansas City For Union Station Massacre

WIDOW WILL GET FREEDOM SHORTLY

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 2.—Mrs. Frank Nash today was to conclude her startling testimony against six co-defendants on trial in federal court for the Union Station massacre of her gangster husband and four officers June 17, 1933.

Fear that "I would be done away with" kept the widow's lips sealed concerning the alleged conspiracy that resulted in the massacre when she appeared before the grand jury.

At her own request she was kept in the county jail last October when she appeared before the grand jury.

To Tell Truth
She had since decided to "tell the truth," according to her testimony at last night's court session, and enter into an agreement with the government prosecutors who promised her freedom in return for the testimony.

The six on trial are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Galatas, Louis Stacci and Fritz Mulloy.

An escaped federal convict, Nash was being returned to prison by a conveyance of officers when the ambush occurred and all five were slain by machine gun fire. The late Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd and Verne Miller were the desperadoes said to have been the trigger men at the machine guns.

Today

No More Of 1934. Everything Is National. Not So Barren. That Indian Skeleton.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

1934 WAS a year of experiments, hard work, big spending, new ideas, some progress.

In a few days the world will have forgotten all about a new year, and be back in the old drift, probably. Nothing ever happens suddenly. Even revolutions, physical, as in Russia, mental, as ours has been, lead back to the same old condition. Real change is as slow as the progress of a glacier.

Those new living will see Russian grandees, with cloaks of sable, and chains of diamonds, one of them on Peter's throne, and see crowds of Americans around the ticker saying, each to the other: "What fools we were not to buy, when they were cheap."

IN THE beginning, all Democratic statesmen wanted the states to do things with the government looking on as umpire, keeping hands off. Now everything is "NATIONAL."

Also a national drive on crime, on "Communism and the reds," on depression, unemployment, mosquitoes, "un-American activities."

ALSO, try to "believe it, there is revealed a plot, Communist—real, of course to kidnap the President and his whole cabinet. A small New York red lawyer, you never heard of him, planned that, and after the kidnapping the little lawyer plans to make himself dictator."

There is something to keep Uncle Sam busy. Think of the WHOLE cabinet kidnapped.

THE DISTINGUISHED George W. Russell, of Ireland, who signs his writings "A.E.", says:

"I am always struck by the terrible barrenness of rural life in America."

He thinks we must "find some way to enrich it," and if we don't: "Then the disease which destroyed ancient Italy will eat into America. You will no longer feed yourselves and you will be struck with palsy of bread and circuses."

Mr. Russell may find greater richness in Irish farmhouses, but it is a richness of the character and of the mind, not of surroundings.

There is little barrenness about, other than intellectual, in our rural life with its automobile, radio, moving pictures within easy reach, rural delivery, porcelain bath tubs, mail order catalogues, prayer meetings, revivals, annual circus, the public library, soon reached by automobile.

THE SKELETON found, buried, in a light, iron cage, like "iron virgin" torture device of Nuremberg, but without spikes on the inside, is said definitely to be the skeleton of a Long Island Indian. The rusty steel cage, with the Indian's skull squeezed into its little compartment, was found in an empty lot that was formerly the "gallows orchard" of old Hempstead. The Indian thus tortured and killed had been left hanging until his bones were bare, then buried where he fell.

YOU ARE told that Long Island Indians were "incorrigible," which means that it was hard to cure them of the notion that they had a right to the land on which their ancestors had lived for thousands of years, before white men came. And:

"It was quite common for the first settlers to burn offenders, and leave them hanging in chains, for their fellow Indians to look at."

We have left that feature of "civilization" behind, but only after the Indians were all dead or driven out. We have not quite given up "burning alive."

A WISE motto of earlier days was, "WHEN IN DOUBT, RE-FRAIN."

In Russia, and other countries, where the will of the majority, the place of slow decisions by the majority, the maxim reads: "When in doubt, SHOOT."

Moscow reports thirteen more executed to avenge the killing of Sergei Kiroff, making one hundred and thirty-seven lives taken to expiate that one murder.

IT IS possible to maintain a government by causing it to be loved, or causing it to be feared. The latter method is easier, although not as lasting. Nikolai, who assassinated Kiroff, as he stood up to be shot, yelled defiantly, at his executioners:

"The Devil take you."

That will not worry Stalin. Bolshevism teaches that there is no devil, outside the superstitious beliefs of ignorant peasants. They cling to the belief because they think a devil is needed.

THERE is some money left, at least, for tax collectors. United States people now pay nine thousand five hundred million dollars a year in taxes, or about one-fifth the gross income of the nation as it stands now.

The various kinds of government, federal, state and local, spend yearly about fifty thousand five hundred million dollars. The city of New York alone spends $100,000,000 more each year for its government than the United States spent for everything, army, navy and pensions included, in the days of McKinley.

The total public debt, local and national, is more than forty-seven thousand millions, which would amount to about one hundred thousand millions, when, if ever, the debt is paid with interest.

A small, more or less prosperous percentage of the 125,000,000 Americans pay ninety per cent of the taxes. Who would pay the expenses of this government if its enthusiasts of today should succeed in abolishing that "noxious creature, 'the rich man'?"

THE COURAGEOUS woman filer, Amelia Earhart, plans to fly, alone, from Hawaii to California, and army officers want the government to prevent the flight, which means almost sure death. Four men that attempted the flight recently were lost.

There should be some way of protecting so valuable a life, but it would be difficult, against the will of that young filer. Providence may protect her, let us hope so, or through her flying genius may bring her.

Howell Stars As Alabama Defeats Stanford 29-13

Southern Eleven Magnificent In Victory, Howell To Hutson Spells Doom

By GEORGE T. DAVIS
International News Service Sports Writer

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—Alabama played over Stanford's heavy this in a nutshell, tells the story of the spectacular New Year's Rose Bowl game in which the Crimson Tide reached heights never attained by a team in the history of this annual classic, and massacred the Indians by a score of 29 to 13.

The "Bama" definitely established themselves as the greatest forward passing team ever seen in the west and "Dixie" Howell's repeated "strikes" made even "Brick" Muller's immortal heave fade by comparison.

Stanford, woefully weak in both the throwing and defending passes, could not begin to fathom the accurate passes of Howell, who found so many vulnerable spots in the Indian secondary defense to complete his tosses to Hutson and Bryant.

The Howell-Hutson battery easily is the greatest seen in the west. Stanford has Power. It was this great combine that raised havoc with the Indians at every turn, and only Stanford's powerful running attack saved the game from being a rout.

Stanford showed its best in the early stages of the third quarter, taking the kick-off and marching down the field to a touchdown with an irresistible force. Grayson was magnificent on this drive, with V-n Dellen scoring from the 12-yard line.

In the final period Howell killed whatever chance Stanford had when he flipped another pass to Hutson, who again made the catch behind the Indian defense, and proved his sprinting ability (he has been timed in 9.8 seconds for 100 yards) by outrunning his foes. This pass and run netted a mere 59 yards.

Record Is Clean
By their win, the Alabamians kept their Rose Bowl record unblemished—with wins over Washington, Washington state and Stanford and a tie with the Reds—while Stanford's defeat added to the poorest record in these east-west games, had losses to Michigan, Notre Dame, Columbia and Alabama, a tie with Bama and a one-point win over Pittsburgh.

Albuquerque had defeated Rochester high by a score of 33 to 14 at the Albuquerque high floor, with Maravich and Walker the big stars for the "Quipplians".

West All-Stars Defeat East In Coast Game 19-13

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—They forgot to pick Irvine ("Cotton") Warburton of Southern California, everybody's all-American quarterback of 1933, on the mythical glory teams of 1934.

But yesterday in Kezar stadium before 55,000 fans, in attendance for the tenth annual east-west charity classic sponsored by the Shriners for their hospital for crippled children, saw Warburton come into his own again.

Warburton sprinted 73 yards to a touchdown in the opening period through "Pup" Lund of Minnesota, Izzy Weinstein of Pittsburgh and the other greats of the east.

Warburton's spectacular gallop was the turning point of an exciting well-played contest that saw the west triumph, 19 to 13.

Syracuse Boxer 'Kayoes' Yarosz

Former Champion of U. S. Navy Scores Technical Victory

OVERWEIGHT MATCH; TITLE NOT AT STAKE

(International News Service)
SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 2.—A new star had burst on the horizon of fistiana today.

He is Eddie (Babe) Risko, of Syracuse, N. Y., whose sensational seven round knockout of Teddy Yarosz of Monaca, Pa., middleweight champion of the world, in an over-the-weight match here last night was one of the most significant fistic events of the last few years.

A large holiday crowd saw Yarosz floored a half dozen times before the end of the battle. At the start of the seventh round he limped badly, protesting that he had hurt his ankle. He had been knocked down once in the seventh when his manager climbed through the ropes and requested Referee Jack Walton to stop the fight. Risko was then declared the winner on a technical knockout.

After the fight a doctor examined Yarosz' right ankle, but found no bones broken.

Risko who has fought here several times and who is a former middleweight champion of the Navy outlasted Yarosz in every one of the seven rounds and had a big lead when the finish came.

Yarosz's title was not at stake. He entered the ring at 160½ while Risko scales 162.

The first round was half over when Risko shot over a hard right to the jaw that sent Yarosz down.

MEETING CALLED FOR NEXT MONDAY

St. Mary's Savannah and Castlewood won victories in the Shenango Township church basketball league, at the Shenango high floor Monday night.

In the first game the St. Marys team just squeezed out a 23 to 19 victory over the Calvary quintet with Frenzel and Rzeznick starring.

The Savannah team nosed out the Center church quintet 20 to 19 in a close and hard fought battle, with Body the big star of the battle with 15 points for Savannah.

In the third and final game the Castlewood team handed the Harmony team a 21 to 7 setback, with Van Eman the main cog with 11 points.

Play in the league will be resumed next Monday night and the league will also play again next Friday night, it was announced, making two league nights next week. ## THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

LISTEN TO THIS
William Shakespeare, the Bard of Avon, wasn't a sports scribe, but apparently he knew his athletics. In "King Lear", Act I, Scene IV, the Earl of Kent says: "Nor tripped neither, you base foot-ball player"

Lefty O'Doul claims to be one of the better golfers of the major leagues. He holds a record of 65 on the par 68 Lincoln Park course in San Francisco. In 1900, Robert of Purdue place-kicked seven field goals in one game. Lloyd Waner is the only major league ball player who has the distinction of collection 200 or more hits in his first actual big league season.

Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Browns does everything in major league fashion. He quarters the boys in the best hotels so they'll have an extra incentive for wanting to stay in the majors. And he also tells them to eat in the main dining rooms instead of the coffee shops.

Polo was first played by a regiment of the British army in 1869. Schoolboy Rowe pitched a total of

On Court House Hill

County Treasurer William O. Pitts, has received a supply of dog licenses which he began to issue today. Dog owners are supposed to get their licenses by January 15th.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has a highly prized relic of the World War in the shape of an Austrian revolver, which he secured from a prisoner in Italy while overseas with the American forces. Pritchard gave the prisoner fifteen lire for the gun. As no shells could be secured here to fit it he had it re-bored so that a .32 shell can be used. It holds eight cartridges.

In the estate of James B. Rumst, for whom the county commissioners acted as guardian, a report was filed in court Monday showing that a property on Randolph street, fourth ward, which belonged to the estate had been sold to Robert A. Booth for $550. The sale was confirmed nisi, which means that if no objections are filed the sale becomes absolute on January 17.

There was to have been a hearing before Judge R. L. Hildebrand on Monday on an application of the Pittsburgh Company of Ellwood City, by the receiver to sell certain water rights along the Conemaugh river creek to the Pennsylvania Power Company. However the petition was withdrawn before the hearing was started. It is understood that the action of the receiver in withdrawing the petition was taken in view of the fact that if the proposed canal is built up the Beaver and Mahoning rivers, the water rights may be wanted by the government.

Register and Recorder William R. Hanna, chairman of the Democratic county committee reports that the Slippery Rock drum corps, along with about 50 or 60 residents of Slippery Rock and vicinity, may accompany the New Castle delegation to the inauguration of Governor-elect George Earl, on January 15th. Under the present plans a train is to be made up at Sharon which will pick up the New Castle delegation. Pullman cars will be provided in order that the delegation may know where they are going to sleep. It's been so long since the Democrats have had a chance to see one of their party inaugurated, that there are a lot of them who would be willing to go without sleep several days if necessary rather than miss the big show.

Mortgages totaling over $140,000 were placed on record by the Home Owner's Loan Corporation at the register and recorder's office during the past week. This was one of the best weeks since the office was opened. The office here was fortunate in having a large number of applications practically ready for closing at the time the order was received not to take any more new applications. There are still a good number yet to be closed, and if another grant of funds is secured from the next congress it will help out wonderfully in clearing up the mortgage situation. One of the chief obstacles to really transactions at the present time is the inability to secure mortgage money.

An application for divorce has been filed at the prothonotary's office by Petrone Wasal of Neshannock township against Anton Wasal of Clinton, Allegheny county. The couple were married in Allegheny county in April 1932. The application is made on the grounds of desertion.

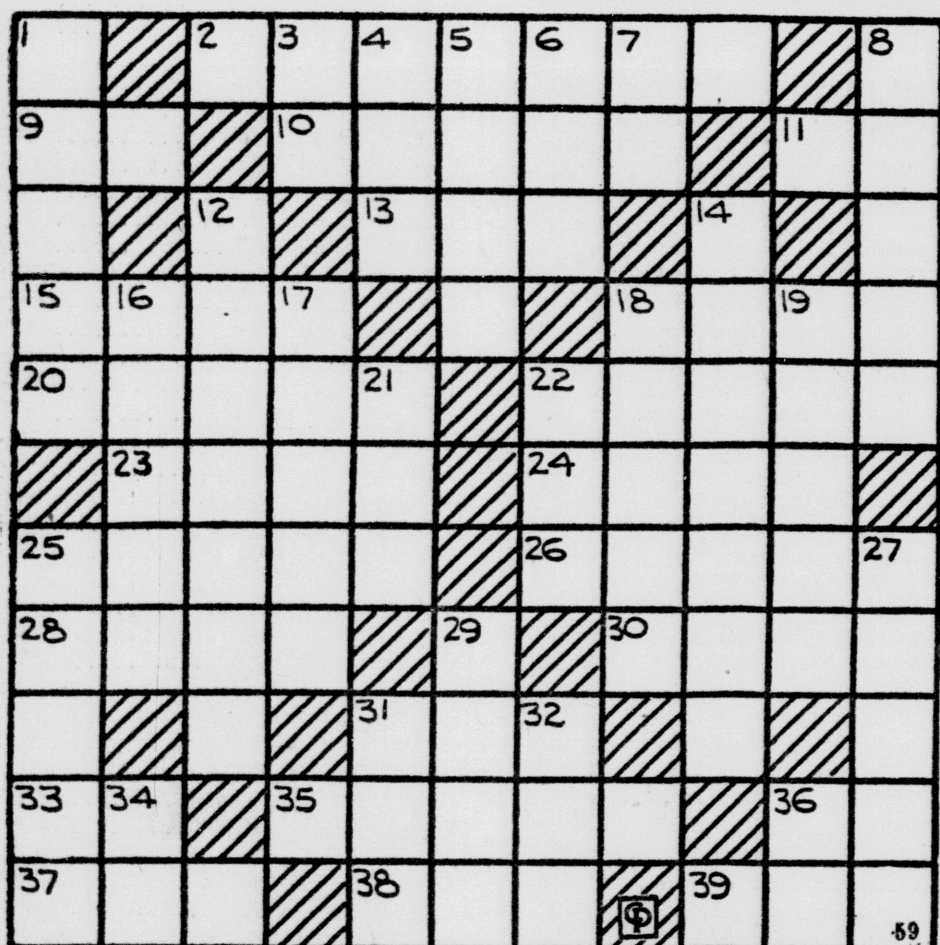

When Prothonotary Ralph M. Campbell started to work in the court house fifteen years ago the prothonotary's office was heated with a big iron stove. It was a part of his duties to bring in the coal and carry out the ashes. The office was much smaller than it is at present and lacked the steel shelving with rollers for the big books and metal boxes for the filing papers. The boxes used in those days were made of heavy pasteboard. In fact some of them can be found in the inner vault at the present time and while they are not nearly so substantial as the metal boxes, they served their purpose very well.

Many changes have been made in the manner of keeping records during the past fifty years. It was considerable time after Campbell went into the office before the marriage license law was passed. Then all a young couple had to do was to find a minister or justice of the peace to hook them up. There was considerable kicking on the marriage license law for some years after it was passed but finally the young couple became reconciled and some of them have been living happily ever since.

Those who haven't have learned that there is also a change in the method of securing a divorce. Until comparatively recent times it was the custom for the court to refer a divorce case to an attorney for a divorce case to take the testimony. He then filed the testimony together with his recommendation with the court, and the court granted or refused the application. Since the county has had two law judges this work has been taken away from the attorneys, the judges hearing the testimony themselves. The change, while it cut attorneys out of fees, has resulted in applicants getting their cases through more rapidly. Usually decrees are handed down within a week or ten days after testimony is taken.

Fire Does Much Damage To Local Business Stores

Stores Suffer Damage As Result Of Fire In Simon Building

ANOTHER FIRE, OVER HOLIDAYS

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 2.—An entire block between Fifth and Sixth streets, on Lawrence avenue, Ellwood City, was endangered when a fire of undetermined origin did considerable damage to the Simon building early Tuesday morning.

The fire started in the furnace room of the three-story brick building owned by the Simon Brothers. In the building were the clothing stores of Louis Simon, Wilkoff's Fashion Shoppe and a poolroom in the basement.

The Ellwood City department had extreme difficulty in getting to the source of the fire, due to the steel doors and bars in the rear of the building. But once gaining entrance, they checked the flames and prevented a threatened calamity.

Smoke masks and asbestos equipment had to be used by the firemen throughout the fight until the flames and danger were checked.

Fire Chief H. F. Plante estimated about $1,500 damage done to the building and $2,000 to the stock of Louis Simon by fire, smoke and water. Also there was considerable damage to the poolroom. There was an unestimated loss by smoke to Wilkoff's, Ellwood City Furniture Company and Silverblatt's stores. All the buildings are adjoining one another.

Board Of Appeals To Hear Tax Payers

County Commissioners Take Up Bessemer And Ellport At Meeting Today

County commissioners began sitting as a board of appeals at the court house this morning. They will continue during the greater part of the month of January, during which time tax payers who have assessments to adjust will be heard.

The triennial assessments were made last year. The board of appeals meets primarily for the purpose of considering any changes that have been made since the triennial assessments, such as the erection of new buildings, the tearing down of old ones, and the adjustments of assessments where the complainants have reason to believe that they have been inequitably made.

Hearings were held today for Bessemer and Ellport boroughs. In Bessemer the Bessemer Limestone company has town down a number of houses since the triennial assessments were made and will ask that their assessments be lowered on this account. There has been little new building in either Bessemer or Ellport during the past year.

Tomorrow the board will hear appeals from the first, second, third, fourth and fifth wards of Ellwood City, and on Friday, January 4th Enon Valley will be considered.

It is not anticipated that there will be very many changes to be made in a majority of the districts. The valuations placed will be those upon which the 1935 taxes will be levied.

Governor Pinchot Gives His Final Message

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 2.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot on Tuesday afternoon delivered his farewell message to the legislature, praising the accomplishments of his administration and suggesting his continuance to his Democratic successor, George H. Earle.

"I congratulate you on the opportunity which lies before you to serve the people of Pennsylvania," the 69-year-old retiring executive said in his 11,000-word "swan song" at a joint session opening the 131st general assembly.

"The times are calling you and the way has been made plain. The steady and unbroken purpose of his administration, the governor said, was "relief for the taxpayer, roads for the farmer, a square deal for the consumer, the bank depositor, the worker and the people generally."

To the governor-elect who assumes office January 15 and to the legislature, Democratic in the house for the first time in a half century but still Republican in the senate, the governor recommended perpetuation of that policy.

Republicans left in the legislature after last November's new deal sweep which tore Pennsylvania from G. O. P. moorings, the executive, who classes himself as an independent Republican, addressed a special admonition:

"The Republican party is for the time being the minority party, but that does not relieve any Republican lawmaker from his obligation to support the Republican platform and do his best to enact it into law."

Both Democrats and Republicans were urged by the governor "not to oppose sound legislation needed by the people merely because it has been introduced by a member of the other party." The governor listed a host of liberal and social measures which he said he sought to have enacted.

acted by previous assemblies and made a last plea for their passage by the new legislature.

"A great change has overtaken the American people during the last four years in which the outgoing administration has played its part," the governor told the lawmakers.

"The people of the United States and of Pennsylvania in particular have achieved a greater sense of their own rights, a clearer understanding of the duty of the government—state and nation—to safeguard their interests and promote their welfare than they ever had before."

Warning that "the people no longer admit any right in concentrated wealth to control them and their government," the governor said:

"An effort is already under way to bring back the old days with their ancient evils, to deliver the government back to the hands of concentrated wealth—to return to the outworn and discredited slogan that the way to help the poor man is to make the rich man richer still."

He added significantly: "The men who are working for such a return are known to us all. I warn them that those of us who believe in the man, the woman and the child ahead of the dollar are prepared to resist them to the bitter end."

Concerning state finances, Governor Pinchot reiterated his recent statement that on the basis of estimated collections he will leave office with a cash balance of about $5,000,000. He summarized again for the lawmakers his estimates that at least $72,000,000 in new revenue exclusive of relief costs must be found to balance the next budget.

The governor twice singled out his wife, Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, for mention, once for her crusading against sweatshops and again for her help last winter while he was confined to a New York hospital with illness. He said:

"My special thanks are due to Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot whose advice in this emergency was indispensable. Indeed, throughout both my terms, Mrs. Pinchot's assistance in dealing with the human side of government has been invaluable. In her, the people of the commonwealth have had an ally impossible to duplicate or replace."

PRESIDENT WORKS ON HIS MESSAGE

Annual Message To Be Presented Friday Expected To Be Brief

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Mobilization of the new 74th Congress was completed in Washington today as President Roosevelt strove to finish his annual message on the state of the nation and to perfect a national budget that may call for record peace-time spending.

The congress that convenes at noon tomorrow is newer, in a literal sense, than any of its predecessors. For in the house almost a fourth of the membership will be taking the oath for the first time, and the senate will be sprinkled with many new faces. All as a result of the Democratic landslide in November.

Severe Democratic Test.

Under these circumstances, the test of Democratic leadership, how to control unwieldy majorities in both houses, becomes severe. Already there are predictions that the session will see more battling, mostly over economic issues, than ever before. There seems ample justification for these predictions, despite the surface confidence of the Democratic leaders that they will be able to hold things in check.

Little time is to be lost in the preliminaries. The Republicans have already ironed out their lead-

Monday night, even up to nearly midnight there were scores of 1934 licenses to be seen on the streets. Tuesday all of them had been changed, or else they were not out. Only one 1934 license could be seen last night and that was on Leasure avenue, west of Wilmington.

Although warmer weather had been predicted, a nice little cold wave descended on the city for the first day of the year. PA News is hopeful that this doesn't indicate a cold year.

Christmas decorations are coming down on the main street, PA News observed early this morning, and by evening, the last vestiges of a Merry Christmas will have vanished. The trees and festoons of lights which hung across the street are being removed.

Detour marks are continuing to be issued by the department of highways, according to the current Bulletin for the period ending January 10. There are still two detours in the local district, one on the old non and Petersburg road and the other in the borough of Stoneboro.

Mass Of Evidence Will Be Presented Against Hauptmann

By LEIGH MATTESON
International News Service Science Writer

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 2.—The really mountainous pile of highly incriminating evidence against Bruno Richard Hauptmann was carefully assayed and ready for use as the business of selecting jurors for his trial got under way here today.

The prosecuting officials are thoroughly convinced that Hauptmann is guilty of the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., they are equally convinced he was the only person ever involved in the fake kidnaping and extortion plot.

Believed "Lone Wolf"

They have carefully studied the personality of the notorious prisoner since his arrival here in the middle of October. From this study they have become thoroughly convinced that Hauptmann was capable of being the whole core of the Lindbergh case mystery without divulging to his waitress wife or any close acquaintance the slightest connection with the monstrous crime.

The certainty of the officials extends even to the trial itself. Attorney General Wilentz, in charge of the prosecution, does not "see how we can lose this case." Without a

A few hours after the delivery of message, the president will summon Democratic leaders to the White House for an extended conference dealing with the legislative program for the session. A general, rather than a specific, program will be drawn up at this session, it was indicated.

RADNOR, Pa., Jan. 2.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., a holiday guest here at the home of his Harvard room-mate, A. J. Drexel Paul, drove his automobile into a parked car, injuring a man, early New Year's morning, police revealed today.

Edward Newman, 29-year-old gasoline station manager, owner of the other machine, was hurled from the running-board, injuring his head.

After requesting that police give no publicity to the accident as he didn't want to worry his parents, the president's son was released on his own recognizance. He was held for a further hearing by Justice of the Peace Howard Harrison.

Prosecutors explained that he was driving directly behind another car and had not seen the parked machine in time to avoid the accident.

The man spoke in flat, expressionless tones, slightly guttural. His wide, gray eyes were inscrutable and his thick, workingman's fingers were as steady as the cigar he held.

"How's my wife?" he asked.

It was Bruno Richard Hauptmann speaking. He was in his county jail cell here, talking to Attorney Egbert Rosecrans in his final conference with any of his defense counsel before going on trial today for the murder of baby Lindbergh.

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 2.—Well, it looks like none of the schemes worked and we are going right on ahead just letting the new year come.

I am on my way out to the football game. I imagine it will be in the papers anyhow about who won. I will be too busy blathering with the players after the game to do much reporting.

It's real Chamber of Commerce weather and I look for those old Arkansas boys (that are playing under the name of Alabama) and those Pennsylvania ones playing under the non de plume of Stanford to put up a real game.

Anxious to hear about the team that Huey Long imported to beat Tulane.

Yours from the shady side of the bleachers,

Will Rogers.

HAUPTMANN IS PALE AS HE FACES COURT AT FLEMINGTON, N. J.

Both Prosecution And Defense Prepared For Epochal Battle—Electric Chair Is Fate Of Hauptmann If Convicted—Mass Of Evidence To Be Presented—Trial May Last For Weeks

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

COURTROOM, FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 2.—Deathly pale but with a defiant gleam in his deep-sunken blue eyes, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was placed on trial here today charged with the murder of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby. He was brought to the bar of justice at 10:09 A. M., in a setting without parallel in an American court room in the past two decades.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, in a flowing black robe, mounted the bench shortly after 10 o'clock. He is a tall, fine-looking man, with gray hair, florid face and wears spectacles.

Everybody in the court room rose as the Judge entered from his chambers in the rear and walked up on to the bench.

Hauptmann Brought In

After the spectators had seated themselves, Hauptmann was brought in from the jail just back of the court room.

Hauptmann was preceded and followed by half a dozen deputy sheriffs and a state trooper as he entered the courtroom. His deep-set blue eyes glanced around the court room in wonderment as he was escorted to a chair at defense counsel. He was neatly attired in a dark gray suit and was clean shaven.

The court erier then droned "Hear ye, hear ye, the state of New Jersey versus Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

Four Jurors Are Selected

(International News Service)

COURT ROOM, FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 2.—Four of the twelve jurors who will decide the fate of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, charged with the murder of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby, were chosen today.

Justice Thomas W. Trenchard then adjourned court for a luncheon recess until 1:45 P. M.

Those chosen as jurors were:

- 1—Charles Walton, Sr., a machinist, of High Bridge.
- 2—Mrs. Rosie Pili, housewife, of Calhoun, a widow.
- 3—Mrs. Verna Snyder, of Readington, a widow, and mother of two children.
- 4—Charles F. Snyder, of Clinton township, a farmer.

All of the jurors chosen so far are parents.

Arthur Mometer

Here's the New Year wish... us, young and old, are full of wonder just what sort of treatment we expect to come from him. Will he bring us sunny weather and rain just when we need it, will he bring us heavy farm crops, will he bring us health and happiness, will he bring us peace and harmony, will he bring us love and affection, will he bring us success and prosperity, will he bring us happiness and joy, will he bring us peace and harmony, will he bring us love and affection, will he bring us success and prosperity, will he bring us happiness and joy.

Ready To Proceed

The panel of 48 names, from which the jury of 12 was to be selected, was called. When the names were called, Justice Trenchard looked down upon the lawyers and asked if they were ready to proceed with the trial.

Both sides nodded.

Attorney Robert Newnam of the defense then moved to admit Reilly as counsel in this New Jersey case.

"We are glad to have Mr. Reilly here," said Justice Trenchard.

Justice Trenchard then began the trial.

POLITICAL UPHEAVAL IN RHODE ISLAND

Democrats Make Epochal Change

Eighty State Boards And Commissions Are Abolished

SUPREME COURT MEMBERS REPLACED

(International News Service)
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 2.—In the most sensational legislative session in its history, Rhode Island's general assembly, the Democrats in control, today indicted into office Governor Theodore Francis Green after wiping out 65 years of Republican domination, abolishing 80 state boards and commissions, turning out the supreme court and electing a new one, all within a few minutes after midnight. As another session later today, assembly faced the problem of reconstructing the state government. It had virtually torn apart, and the program, already formed, included consolidation of most of the abolished departments into 11 new and centralized departments. The essential offices, such as heads of the Providence fire and police departments, were filled by temporary appointments.

MASS OF EVIDENCE WILL BE PRESENTED AGAINST HAUPTMANN

last-minute insanity defense, Hauptmann's conviction on the murder charge inevitably would result in imposition of the death sentence.

Mass Of Evidence
The mass of evidence against Hauptmann will be presented in such detail as the trial progresses that newspaper readers will have great difficulty sorting the wheat of important facts from the chaff of incidentals surrounding these kernels.

Summarized very briefly, the state will present the following highly incriminating facts and evidence:
The fellow who wrote the note left in the nursery that night of March 1, 1932, was obviously German, as he put the dollar signs at the wrong end of the numerals, where the Reichmark sign is placed, and he wrote the German word "gute" in the sentence "the child is in gute care. The mysterious 'John' met twice by Dr. John F. Condon, talked with a thick German accent.
Hauptmann was an adult before he left Germany or learned to read, write or speak English, and he talks with a thick German accent. The state will contend that if a semi-literate German could have been entrusted both with composing and writing the nursery ransom note and with the collection of the ransom, the two most important acts in the whole crime, there must have been only one semi-literate German involved and he was the former German who kept on living in the Bronx and passing ransom bills at the rate of $40.80 per week from the date the ransom was paid.

Alphabetical Letters Duplicated
The state will endeavor to show that there is not a single alphabetical letter or numeral in Hauptmann's handwriting or hand print.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Of all the men elected or re-elected to the senate last November, Joseph E. Guffey (D) of Pennsylvania, today alone had no seat in the senate.
Under a peculiar arrangement, Senator Hunter (D) of Nebraska, was given a seat in the rear row on the Democratic side to hold until noon tomorrow when his brief term expires. After twelve o'clock strikes the seat will be turned over to Guffey. In the meantime, out of 97 senators (including Hunter) only Guffey had no seat.
A seat even was set aside for Senator-elect Rush D. Holt (D) of West Virginia, who will not seek admission to the senate until next June.

Convention Opens In Wesleyan Church

Services Begin With A Watch Night Devotional Program, Followed By Addresses

The conventional services opened at the Wesleyan Methodist church, Rev. Swauger pastor, Monday, Dec. 31, with a watch night service. William Leyshon of New Castle took charge of the opening service, leading in song, followed by a praise service conducted by Mr. Campbell of Pittsburgh. Rev. A. L. White of New Brighton brought the sermon. The thought he stressed most was the importance of our going forward in our passion for lost souls, going forward in our spiritual life and in our convictions, and above all to go forward at once.

The Christians gathered about the altar to pray the old year out and the new year in. God's presence was mightily felt. Tuesday morning Miss Morrow of Shippingport took charge of the prayer service. The Sunday school program Tuesday afternoon began with song, followed by these discussions: "Why is Mere Telling Not Teaching?", Mrs. Ruth Frase, Shippingport; "What Are Some Evidence of a Teacher's Enthusiasm", Mrs. Beulke, New Castle. A round table discussion on "My Most Successful Plan". In the absence of Miss Fero a paper was read by Mrs. Ober entitled "By What Means Does Knowledge Enter the Soul". Tuesday evening after prayer service the Rochester chorus sang.

Rev. Swauger, and Rev. Landrey, Rochester, discussed "The Danger of Popular Holiness", definitely stating ways in which to aid altar workers and those who seek holiness. The dangers of popular holiness were chiefly: Dangerous to ourselves; Dangerous to our church; Dangerous because of a false impression to the world. Rev. Landrey, Rochester, brought the evening message. She discussed "Paying Our Vows."

Rev. Frase, Shippingport, preached this afternoon. This evening is Young People's Night. Special music will be rendered by the New Castle young ladies' quartet. Mrs. Mary Love, Rochester, will read a paper, "The Evil of Slang". Rev. Edna Patterson, Greenville, will bring the evening message.
Thursday morning there will be song service, convention suggestions and a sermon by Rev. Glenn Lauby, Annandale.

LEGISLATURE IS ORGANIZED FOR COMING SESSION

have the new Democratic jobholders go on the payroll when the house reconvenes.
Resolutions abolishing the $4,500-a-year post of resident house clerk and the $7-a-day chaplain also were adopted on a party vote. In the senate, a Democratic resolution to slash personnel was tabled by the Republican majority.
Organization plans for the opening session went through without a hitch.

Rep. Wilson G. Sarig, Berkes, was named speaker, and William H. Gallagher, Wilkes-Barre, was elected chief clerk. The Democratic majority carried its plan to reduce from 105 to 85 the number of votes to discharge committees.

The senate Republican majority elected Senator John H. Hoesher, Lancaster, president pro tem and renamed A. Boyd Hamilton secretary. Faced with the dilemma of having 35 standing senate committees and only 31 Republican senators, the upper house majority amended the rules to reduce the committees to 31.

Hear Pinchot's Message

In joint session, legislators heard Gov. Gifford Pinchot give an 11,000-word accounting of his stewardship in which he recommended continuance of his policy by the incoming Democratic administration of Governor-Elect George H. Earle.

The executive omitted that portion of his prepared text in which he claimed a paper budget balance of $5,500,851 but reiterated $72,000,000 in new revenues must be found to balance the next biennial budget, irrespective of relief cost.
The Republican house steering committee announced its intention of introducing and supporting 25 bills aimed to enact into law the major planks of the G. O. P. platform.

OVER 250 REPORTERS COVER TRIAL IN N. J.

said, "And I told him not to worry. He said he was not worried and he said he felt fine. He looked, well, he just looked natural. The same as anybody."

Thus, as cold as ice, Hauptmann, the enigma, began his fight to keep out of the electric chair.
But there was nothing cold about the rest of this drama.
The activity of more than 250 newspapermen and women and scores of telegraph operators, investigators, curious spectators, lawyers, witnesses and others is feverish.

More than 100 wires, capable of handling over 2,000,000 words a day, have been installed by Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies to handle the story for the world. It is the biggest wire set-up in history for a single newspaper story. There were only 50 wires for the celebrated Hall-Mills murder case.
The top notch reporters of the country are here along with famous novelists, columnists and editors. Special correspondents from more than a dozen states, and Canada, are present as well as special and staff writers from three London publications and one German newspaper.

Conviction: The opinion that is left when you discard the facts that don't match your prejudice.
